

CISA Multitop Matic EXIT system for emergency exit doors. Locks automatically, opens instantly.

FAENZA, May 2021.

The new EXIT is the latest addition to CISA's Multitop Matic range of locks for steel and aluminum doors. The panic exit device is a single solution with a twofold advantage: it opens instantly in case of emergency and self-locks automatically.

As is the case with all CISA Matic solutions, you don't need a key to lock the door. Simply shut the door and the 3 latchbolts and 3 deadbolts will engage automatically. The automatic self-locking system makes it unnecessary to manually lock the emergency exits at the end of the day, saving you time and improving security.

To open the door from the inside in case of emergency, just press the push bar. The Multitop MATIC EXIT system always guarantees immediate exit, also when the door is locked, without the need to open the door manually at the start of the day.

The benefits of the system are obvious, as explained by Chiara Angelucci, Locks Platform Leader: "By choosing CISA Multitop Matic EXIT you secure two solutions in one: on the one side you ensure protection against unauthorized access and on the other you have the certainty of a fast exit in the event of danger. This is the reason why it is the ideal solution for the emergency exits of high-traffic commercial and public buildings."

A motorized option is also available, which allows remote opening even when the door is locked. It suffices to directly install the CISA MOTOR on the door frame and choose your preferred credential for opening among intercom, keypad, transponder, badge and mobile phone.
